

Community Bagging Initiative:

Your group can support the JFS Polack Food Bank from anywhere!

Looking to bring an element of service into your next event? Sign up for our Community Bagging Initiative, and you'll get all the tools you need to set up an engaging, hands-on, and fun volunteer activity!

Your group can support our Polack Food Bank by bagging bulk food (e.g., rice, beans, oats) into smaller portions, so that we can distribute them to the 2,000+ neighbors we serve! Help us provide culturally-appropriate food to our visitors with our consumer-choice model that enables them to choose the foods they want. Make a difference at your next birthday party, B'nai Mitzvah event, or workplace gathering with our ready-to-go volunteer kit!

How to get a kit:

- 1. Request Kit: Email volunteer@jfsseattle.org to request the kit, free of charge.
Note: Kit requests require at least three weeks' notice.
- 2. Purchase Bulk Food: We'll provide a list of items needed and where to buy them locally.
- 3. Pick Up Kit: Collect the kit at JFS Capitol Hill, 1601 16th Avenue, during office hours.
- 4. Drop Off: Return supplies and bagged food to our Food Bank during open hours.

What's included in the kit:

- Trays (for loose product)
- Milk crates (for bagged product)
- Metal scoops
- Plastic bags
- Tape dispensing machines
- Gloves
- "How to Bulk-Bag" instructions

Questions? Please reach out to volunteer@jfsseattle.org.
